Navicure to Provide RCM Solutions for Large Pennsylvania-based Medical Group

ATLANTA, July 16, 2007—Navicure today announced The Reading Hospital Medical Group (Reading, PA) has selected a number of its Web-based revenue cycle management (RCM) solutions, including the core claims management application, electronic remittance posting product and advanced reporting suite. The network of 185 physicians will be synchronizing a number of disparate practice management systems with the single Navicure RCM solution. This will enable the majority of billing staff to work in a uniform environment - allowing management to implement and monitor RCM processes across the enterprise.

"Our goal is to achieve enterprisewide RCM simplicity and efficiency, and we believe Navicure offers the solutions that can help get us there," said Scott L. Griffin, executive director of The Reading Hospital Medical Group. "The company's advanced technology provides the intuitive functionality and advanced reporting capabilities needed to address our complex billing challenges."

Thousands of physicians in practices nationwide use Navicure's solutions to automate revenue cycle processes, including claims management, electronic remittance posting, secondary claims processing, advanced reporting, and other ancillary services related to physician practice management, such as patient statement processing, eligibility verification and data protection. Dynamic Claims Status functionality enables claims to be easily tracked in any stage of processing and the cause of denials readily analyzed. A comprehensive reporting solution ensures that all levels within an organization—from billing staff to executive leadership—have tools at their fingertips to eliminate billing errors and improve staff operational efficiency.

"Taking a Web-based approach to RCM enables healthcare organizations like The Reading Hospital Medical Group to realize the benefits of automation without upfront hardware costs, and with minimal set-up and staff training fees," said James Denny, president and CEO of Navicure. "Plus, these organizations can better utilize the functionality of existing technology investments like practice management systems."

"We are happy and proud to have The Reading Hospital Medical Group as a client, and look forward to a rewarding relationship for years to come," Denny added.
