Navicure Leaders Recognized with Local Achievement Awards

Company leaders earn top Atlanta business honors for entrepreneurial, community and marketing leadership

ATLANTA, December 15, 2011—Navicure, a leading Internet-based medical claims clearinghouse for physician practices, today announced that three members of its leadership team were recognized by local organizations for their entrepreneurial skills and community involvement. Jim Denny, founder, president and CEO, was ranked tenth on Business to Business Magazine's Metro Atlanta's Top 25 Entrepreneur's list and Craig Bridge, COO, was one of the winners of the 40 Under 40 Awards presented by the Atlanta Business Chronicle. Carrie Sjogren, Marketing Director, was also named the Technology Association of Georgia's (TAG) Integrated Marketer of the Year.

The Business to Business Magazine's Top 25 Entrepreneur awards recognize the best of Atlanta's business leaders based on company profitability, growth, sustainability and entrepreneurship. Denny's top ten finish was based on Navicure's growth over the last three years. During this period, the company's revenue has more than doubled. In addition, Denny was recognized for his contributions to improving the financial performance of physician practices' across the nation.

"It is certainly an honor to be named one of the top entrepreneurs in the Atlanta area, especially since our city is full of many great companies with superior leadership teams," said Denny. "Every employee at Navicure helped build and grow this company over the last ten years. I'm very thankful for all of their hard work and dedication because without them we would not be where we are today."

In addition to Denny's recognition, Bridge was honored with Atlanta Business Chronicle's 40 Under 40 Award, which is given to those who work to increase the sense of community through their efforts as business leaders. This year, more than 550 Atlanta leaders were nominated for the award.

"Everyone at Navicure is proud of Craig and thrilled that he was recognized," said Denny. "He is committed to the community and Navicure. We are very fortunate to work with someone who is so involved in our serving our community and making it a better place."

Bridge directs all of Navicure's operations to ensure the company consistently delivers technology that helps clients increase and speed cash flow and improve revenue cycles. He helped establish Navicure's 3-Ring Policy that ensures that Navicure clients receive the best possible client service. Outside of his work at Navicure, Bridge is committed to serving vulnerable children through the Ethiopian-based charity, Yezelalem Minch, which provides support to children in Ethiopia who have been orphaned by the AIDS epidemic. In addition, Bridge has volunteered for more than 15 seasons as a basketball, baseball and softball coach for the Collins Hill Athletic Association. He is also very active at his church where he teaches Sunday School and serves on several committees.

Additionally, Carrie Sjogren received the Integrated Marketer of the Year award from TAG Marketing, a society of the overall TAG organization, for her excellence and achievements in marketing work for Navicure. Each year the award is given to someone who has made a significant impact on a company's overall success.

"Carrie's work with our marketing team is vital to our company's success, and we are very proud of her accomplishments" said Denny. "There are many great marketing professionals in Atlanta, so her winning this award is a testament to her skill level. We're very thankful to have her on our team."
